As part of National Crime Victims' Rights Week, the Vermont Center for Crime Victim Services and the United States Attorney's Office, District of Vermont, team up to coordinate a ceremony to honor those serving victims of crime in Vermont, and develop a resource that serves both victims and survivors of crime the community of professionals with whom they may come in contact. This year, they created a DVD resource for victims and survivors that offers diverse ways to cope with the damaging effects of trauma. This DVD resource - Healthy Bodies, Minds and Spirits: Coping with Trauma - is now available for FREE online! We now know that the impacts of trauma can be emotional, psychological, physical and neurological. In the video, you meet three practitioners who introduce three approaches to begin or assist the process of healing. They explain how various techniques can help heal not just emotional, but also neurological effects of trauma. They carefully demonstrate these techniques and invite viewers to try them.
